

Sponsorship Proposal for Women's Football in Grenada

ST GEORGE'S, July 5, 2013 – Women's football in Grenada may soon have a title sponsor, this after the Grenada Football Association (GFA) and Beacon Insurance Company Limited recently held talks about the sport on the island.

It has been reported that Country Manager, Molly Roberts expressed an interest in supporting women's football as well as forging a new relationship with the GFA, during a meeting with the association's boss Cheney Joseph.

The two officials also reportedly reviewed the failure of women's football locally. Eight teams are expected to participate in the proposed tournament scheduled to kick-off on September 14.

The emphasis of the tournament will also be to create awareness of women's football and matches will be played in local communities.

This tournament will precede a FIFA-funded Women Community Football Programme scheduled to start on October 14.
